This is the base design. For now it doesn't have a lot of details.

This is because we want to make sure the color palette is right, and doesn't forces the eye sight of the user too much, the interface is simple and intuitive and the firebase and the overall app works.
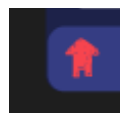

Once the prototype is done and we test it, we will do the necessary changes to the design, and we will detail the app a lot more for the final product.

Home Page

The Home Page will be the first screen the user sees and interacts with, so we want to make sure everything they can do in the app is accessible from there.

We will be able to get to songs recommended by the app and travel through different screens from there.

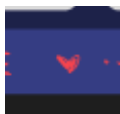

Home Page (which we are in already)

Search Page, where users will be able to search for specific songs

Playlist Page, where you will have some playlists and create playlists (if we can implement that)

Favorite Songs Playlist, all the songs that you mark as favorite, will be in there.

More Page, is where the user will be able to view their profile, payment options, and other settings that complete the app.

Searching specific songs

In the Search Page the user will be able to search for specific music. In addition, also to make use of the extra space in the screen, there will be some filters already made, like seasonal songs, trending songs, etc

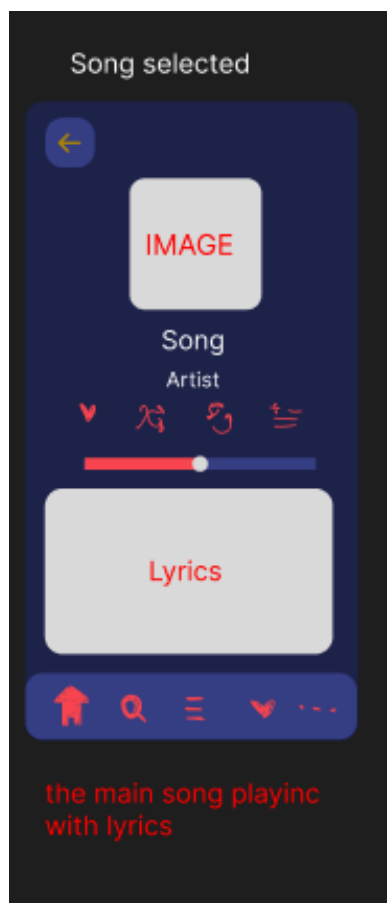

playlists

The Playlist Page will have all the playlists of the users, and the users are going to be able to add, delete or edit the playlists.

For now this page will stand from being made.
